ArmTech Congress '09 Invitation Letter to Sponsors

Dear Sponsor,

We appreciate your continued interest in Armenia's high tech industry and its strategic impact on creating a sustainable industry that can also serve as a catalyst in developing the electronic infrastructure for other industries to flourish. Sectors benefiting include, for example: tourism, telecommunications, entertainment, manufacturing, medical, bio-tech, pharmaceuticals, banking, finance and logistics. The influences of this strategic industry have already started stimulating efficiencies and competitiveness of academia and the government of Armenia. This will help Armenia to differentiate itself further, as well as effectively cooperate with neighbors and global communities. High tech industry is an important and necessary building block for self-sufficiency and further developing and sustaining a free and democratic country.

We apply to you as a select individual, and the business entity you represent, and kindly ask you to bring your active participation as well as sponsorship to ArmTech Congress '09, the Third Global High Tech Industry Conference and Platform of the Republic of Armenia. The conference will take place in Silicon Valley at the elegant Fairmont Hotel in San Jose, from November 5 to November 8, 2009.

The Republic of Armenia officially adopted ArmTech Congress in 2008 as its global, high tech industry conference and platform, to further facilitate the success of Armenia's high tech industry, which is a priority in Armenia's overall economic development program. ArmTech Congress '09 will strengthen the cooperation and collaboration among the high-tech communities in Armenia, USA, Western Europe, Russia, Canada, the Middle East and elsewhere around the world, and will examine the challenges and opportunities for Armenia's high-tech industry in a dynamic global economy. As an effective platform, ArmTech Congress '09 will continue assisting the government and academia to foster an environment conducive to this strategic industry as well as to showcase Armenia as a viable high-tech destination for foreign investments and off-shore operations.

Holding ArmTech Congress '09 in Silicon Valley underscores the significance of synergy between Yerevan – striving to earn recognition as a high tech center of excellence – and Silicon Valley, the global center of the high tech industry and academia.

The program of the three-day conference in November 2009 will include session tracks addressing critical high tech industry topics. Among keynote speakers in general session are Tigran Sargsyan, Prime Minister of the Republic of Armenia, other officials from Armenia and USA and representatives of the high-tech industry and academia.

As sponsor, you will have access to important high tech industry executives of start-ups and multinationals around the world including Armenia, USA, Europe, Middle East and Russia. The conference will be under the auspices of the Prime Minister of Armenia, and participants will also include top government officials and academics from Armenia and the USA. Depending upon the level of sponsorship, your benefits are numerous, including display of your logo and name throughout the conference and on ArmTech's promotional and PR materials. More importantly, you will be part of "making history". Special recognitions and awards will be presented during the conference, in addition to highlights in our electronic materials that will be distributed internationally.

Please accept our gratitude and thanks for making this benchmark event possible. All funds will be used to support the event and sustain the ArmTech platform.
